School of Science and Technology Discovery District Mission Statement

“Our mission is to create a safe and healthy learning environment that nurtures, motivates, and enables our elementary, middle school, and high school youth to develop into mindful and responsible people who contribute to their community and to the diverse society in which we all live. Our program is characterized by the cooperative presence and unified support of caring families, businesses, as well as educational and civic groups, with whom our students will interact. Our instruction guides students through development of creative and critical thinking and learning skills, and enables them to apply these skills through cooperative and interactive instruction in the core curricular areas.”

Statement of Purpose

The success of School of Science and Technology students based on a program emphasizing academic excellence while motivating student achievement. The School of Science and Technology School model is:

- Rigorous (prepares student for college); a college-bound education starts in the elementary grades at SST Schools. Beginning in kindergarten, each school focuses on developing proficiency in core subjects, and this approach continues throughout an SST education.
- Relevant (reinforces math and science skills); and, students attending SST Schools begin their specialized math and science instruction in the fourth grade, enabling them to receive a strong math and science foundation from highly qualified teachers at an early age.

Relationships (a strong culture of meaningful personal relationships, reinforced by teachers and parents) Our program is characterized by the cooperative presence and unified support of caring families, businesses, as well as educational and civic groups, with whom our students will interact.

- These tutorials use computer-based learning aids, and dedicated educators help students understand the concepts with which they are having difficulty. Extended hours are not just for individuals needing additional help; gifted, talented and advanced students also receive extended, advanced instruction.

School of Science and Technology attributes the strong performance of its schools and students to three core principles within the school model:

- A challenging math and science curriculum supported by theory; Our instruction guides students through development of creative and critical thinking and learning skills, and enables them to apply these skills through cooperative and interactive instruction in the core curricular areas.

- A focus on assessment across the school system; and, at SST Schools, we believe every student can master the skills they need to succeed. Students who need additional academic instruction or support are provided extended after school and Saturday tutorials.
- A culture of constructive competition, discipline and parental engagement.

To this end, we want to establish partnership with parents and with the community. Parents play an extremely important role as the children's first teachers. Their support for their children and for the school is critical to their children's success at every step of the way.

In support of strengthening student academic achievement, School of Science and Technology that receives Title I, Part A funds must develop jointly with, agree on with, and distribute to, parents of participating children a written parental involvement policy that contains information required by section 1118(a)(2) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) (district wide parental involvement policy).
